

Weekends at Walloon

Photos styled by John Scott

A renovated cottage becomes a dream home

You have to feel deeply about a place to choose it for your wedding site. For Judi and Barry McDonald, their hearts were in a small cottage on the shore of Walloon Lake, Michigan. It seemed only natural that they would exchange vows at the cottage, surrounded by family and friends.

The tiny cottage had been a part of Judi's life for 32 years—ever since her parents bought the place on the same lake where Ernest Hemingway spent his summers.

Story by Margaret Haapsoja
Photography by Roger Wade

An addition with a shed roof attached to the back blends perfectly with the existing logs. Opposite: Barry and Judi McDonald plan to retire soon to their home on the lake.